You may be affected by a class action lawsuit about whether Allstate Insurance Company (“Allstate”) misclassified its exclusive agents in California between March 22, 2020 and March 28, 2025 as independent contractors. The lawsuit seeks reimbursement of the expenses those agents incurred in running an Allstate agency, selling Allstate insurance products, and servicing Allstate customers in California during that same time period.

Canchola, et al. v. Allstate Insurance Company
c/o A.B. Data, Ltd.
PO Box 173086
Milwaukee, WI 53217

What is the lawsuit? The lawsuit is called Canchola, et al. v. Allstate Insurance Company, Case No. 8:23-cv-00734-FWS-ADS and is in the United States District Court of the Central District of California. A copy of the complaint, which sets forth the claims in the case can be found at www.AllstateAgentLawsuit.com.

The Plaintiffs allege that, between March 22, 2020 and March 28, 2025, Allstate structured its relationship with its California exclusive agents as an employer-employee relationship and failed to reimburse necessary business expenses incurred in running an Allstate agency, in violation of California Labor Code section 2802. Allstate denies Plaintiffs' claims and asserts that it both properly classified its exclusive agents as independent contractors and that it does not owe any reimbursement to Plaintiffs.

The Court has certified this lawsuit as a class action. The Court's Order Certifying the Class can be found at www.AllstateAgentLawsuit.com. The Class includes: All individuals who signed an Allstate R3001, R3001A, R3001S, or R3001C Exclusive Agency Agreement (the "Agency Agreement"), and are or were Allstate exclusive agents in California at any time between March 22, 2020 and March 28, 2025.

Why am I getting this Notice? You are receiving this notice because you could be part of the Class. Allstate's records show that you signed an Exclusive Agency Agreement and that you currently are, or previously were, an Allstate exclusive agent in California who incurred business expenses in running an Allstate agency, selling Allstate insurance products, and servicing Allstate customers in California between March 22, 2020 and March 28, 2025.

What are my options? (1) Stay in the Class; if you stay in the Class, you will be legally bound by all orders and judgments of the Court, and you won't be able to sue, or continue to sue, Allstate Insurance Company—as part of any other lawsuit—for violations of Cal. Labor Code 2802 based on the alleged misclassification that occurred between March 22, 2020, and March 28, 2025. If you stay in the Class and the Plaintiffs prevail in this lawsuit, you may be entitled to a share in the recovery. To stay in the Class, you do not have to do anything now. If you do not request exclusion, you may, if you desire, enter an appearance in this lawsuit through an attorney.
